RHEUMATISM

Physician Believes a Genuine Remedy for the Disease Has Been Found.

Rheuma, the wonderful rheumatism remedy, now sold by all food druggists, gives quicker and more lasting relief than other remedies costing many times as much.

Rheuma acts with speed; it brings in a few days the relief you have prayed for. It antagonizes the poisons that cause agony and pain in the joints and muscles and quickly the torturing soreness completely disappears.

Read what a reputable physician says about Rheuma: "I have made the most careful investigation of the formula employed in the manufacture of Rheuma, and I heartily recommend it as a remedy for all forms of rheumatism. I find Rheuma far in advance of the methods generally employed in the treatment of rheumatism, and altogether different in character. All the remedies usually prescribed—Dr. M. C. Lyons' Rheuma should give any rheumatic sufferer confidence to try this harmless and inexpensive remedy."

If you have rheumatism in any form, don't delay—try Rheuma today. Lee & Osgood will supply you and return your money if it does not give you quick and joyful relief.

DANIELSON

From the office of District Chairman Charles T. Tillinghast, of the Victory Loan organization, letters were sent out Thursday to town chairmen, urging these workers to get in touch with all property owners in their respective towns and request that in making subscriptions in the Victory Loan drive that they give at least a part of their subscriptions in behalf of the town where they reside. This particular feature of the campaign is directed toward the end of getting some benefit of the heavy subscriptions that come from summer residents of some of the towns in this district, subscriptions that are apt to be placed through banks in large cities. It is believed that this campaign, if properly urged, will result in boosting materially the Victory Loan drive in some of the towns of the Danielson district.

Gloomy and rainy weather Thursday did not operate in any degree to dampen the joy of many of Killington's residents over the return home of their sons and second only to the happiness of their relatives and close friends over their safe return was that of the people at large.

John Horton, Daniel Doyle, Francis Gagnon and George Moran made up a quartette of Yankee division boys who set foot in their home town for the first time in a year and a half. It seems superfluous to state that they were overjoyed to get back, even for the brief period that their leaves of absence permit, and their feelings on the premises were matched by the happiness of the people that welcomed them.

All of the four excepting Horton, who was in a field artillery outfit, fought with the famous 102d Infantry, of which Connecticut people will be proud for evermore. All of them have seen the service that tries men's souls and all of them have faced death day after day, never flinching, never wavering, always mindful that they were representatives of the nation whom the success of the war for the allies depended.

Horton and Doyle are Danielson boys, Gagnon and Moran of Dayville. Their war record is something in which the town shares what must be their pride. In the strenuous campaigning of the 102d Infantry from the first all escaped serious injury, something that few of the original outfit can claim, and they are of the handful of men that started overseas with the regiment in September, 1917, and lived through to come back with it.

They were at Seicheprey, at St. Mihiel, where nearly 20,000 Germans were captured, on the Meuse and in the Argonne and other terrific fighting. They have learned what it means to come into immediate touch with the Kaiser's forces, and to beat them back every time they encountered them.

Looking into their youthful faces, it is almost impossible to realize that they are among the most seasoned veterans of hard fighting that Uncle Sam sent overseas, or realize what their eyes have looked upon. They know all of the horrors of war, except that of defeat, and they are representatives of victory triumphant.

Many were the people who clasped their hands Thursday. At Dayville Messrs. Moran and Gagnon were overwhelmed with congratulations on their safe return and were properly served.

They must go back to Camp Devens at the expiration of their leaves to await the big day of their re-enlistment and the monster parade in which they will participate in Boston, but about the first of May they will come back as civilians, have made a record of which their towns people will take pride in talking as long as this generation lasts.

Following are the newly elected officers of Montgomery No. 2, S. S. M. T. I. M. C. S. Francis, I. D. M. Frank T. Preston; L. P. C. F. E. Bilgood; treasurer, Frank T. Preston; recording secretary, William Kenney; C. G. Captain E. E. Withee; conductors, Ernest R. Warren, Edward, Walter Anderson; sentinel, Edward S. Carpenter.

The officers were installed by Retiring T. I. M. Elbert L. Darbie, assisted by Oray E. Potter as grand marshal.

Among the men from this section who have been elected members of the reception committee of the Connecticut general assembly centennial are: Representatives, Franklin of Brooklyn, Lawrence of Plainfield, Haines of Pomfret, Kent of Putnam and Baker of Ashford.

Manufacturing concerns are showing much interest in the coming Welcome Home celebration. It was learned Thursday, and not a few of them will be represented in the big parade by groups of their employees and by floats. The present promise is for one of the greatest celebrations Killington ever saw.

Sergeant Henry Burnett, who was a motorcycle dispatch rider, once tells of the exciting life that one of these riders lives and with pleasure of the speed with which they carried out their missions. The American riders showed the desperate riders of other allied arms what real speed looked like, and it came to be the common thing for the British and French to stop and watch them in amazement as they would tear through towns, riding their machines at breakneck speed. Sergeant Burnett got fairly nasty in his hazardous occupation, but he escaped without any broken bones, though he was so injured in extricating another rider's machine from the mud that he will have to undergo a surgical operation before he is mustered out.

At the Connecticut mills, a survey is being made of land surrounding the big plant. While no statement relative to the activities will be given out by mill officials it is taken to indicate that at some time in the not distant future the company will give serious consideration to the much talked of plan of building another big mill. The big plant is extremely busy at the present time, and is running day and night shifts of workers.

There were two calls for fires on Thursday night.

Catarrh Of The Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How To Recognize and Treat.

"Thousands of people suffer more or less constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind, and stomach acidity, and call it indigestion when in reality their trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluids cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is polluted and carries the infection throughout the body. Gastric ulcers are apt to form and frequently an ulcer is the first sign of a deadly cancer.

In catarrh of the stomach a good and safe treatment is to take before meals a teaspoonful of pure Bismarck Magnesia in half a glass of hot water as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water washes the mucus from the stomach walls and draws the blood to the stomach, while the bismarck magnesia is an excellent solvent for mucus and increases the efficiency of the hot water treatment. Moreover the Bismarck Magnesia will serve as a powerful but harmless antacid which will neutralize any excess hydrochloric acid that may be in your stomach and sweeten its food contents. Easy, natural digestion without distress of any kind should soon follow. Bismarck Magnesia is not a laxative, is harmless, pleasant and easy to take and can be obtained from any local druggist. Don't confuse Bismarck Magnesia with other forms of magnesia, milk, citrates, etc., but get it in the pure bismarck form (powder or tablets), especially prepared for this purpose.

Thursday, one at 12.10, the other at 1.30 p. m. The fires were at the La Lamberie house on Carter street. A defective chimney caused the trouble. The damage was not great.

The presentation of Miss Fearless and Company, under the auspices of the Putnam Leavitt Methodist church was a very fine success in every respect. The entertainment attracted a large attendance and the programme was presented with exceptional good career, and his work in the ice cream were sold, and the receipts from the entire venture will be considerable.

No definite figures were obtainable Friday as to the success of the drive that the Windham County Farmers' association is making for 1,000 members this week, but Whitman Danielson, who is in charge of the campaign here, said that the reports that early reports are encouraging. The drive is proceeding in all the fifteen towns of Windham county and canvassers are not bothered for reports or money. Has not escaped the attention of his many friends here that Souvenir W. T.
